ACQUITY UPLC TUV Detector

The Waters ACQUITY UPLC Tunable UV (TUV) detector is a dual-wavelength Ultraviolet/Visible (UV/Vis) detector for use in the ACQUITY UPLC H-Class system. Optimized for Ultra Performance Liquid Chromatography, the TUV detector's innovative light-guided flow cell and low-noise electronics result in a detector that delivers the utmost in UPLC sensitivity.

Detector wavelength range is 190-700nm. Detector response is linear up to 2.5 AU; dynamic range extends to 4.0 AU. Either single or dual wavelength operating modes are supported. Wavelength spectral scanning, including automatic blank subtraction can be stored in memory. Wavelength ratios, with absorbance threshold control, may be utilized for real time peak purity assessment.

Access to detector status # wavelength, lamp on/off # and diagnostic information is supported through the ACQUITY UPLC System Instrument Console. Instrument communications with the host computer are through Ethernet communications protocols.

Lamp optimization software and low-noise electronics guarantee low noise performance in the visible wavelength range and compensates for lamp degradation over time to ensure consistent response. The combination of lamp optimization software and an automatic second order filter enables operation in the visible wavelength range without requiring a lamp change. The lamp is warranted for 2000 hours.

The 10mm analytical light-guided flow cell delivers sensitivity and resolution to ACQUITY UPLC applications. Low dispersion performance is achieved with a 500 nL internal volume and 62.5 ¼m PEEK interconnectinlet/outlet tubing.

for use in the ACQUITY UPLC H-Class system. Optimized for Ultra Performance Liquid Chromatography, the FLR detector#s innovative axially illuminated, low-volume flow cell design and low-noise electronics result in a detector that brings unsurpassed sensitivity and selectivity to UPLC.

Detector wavelength range is 200-900nm. Signal-to-noise ratio is >1000 (Water Raman band). The detector incorporates four data channels, two wavelength pairs per channel, and supports both 2D and 3D scanning injection modes. Access to detector status # wavelength, lamp on/off # and diagnostic information is supported through the ACQUITY UPLC System Instrument Console. narrow peaks typical for UPLC separations. It comes preconfigured with a nebulizer optimized for UPLC separations, which supports performance across the entire flow rate range of the ACQUITY UPLC H-Class system.

Note: The ELS Detector requires a supply of suitable grade gas, either high purity nitrogen gas or zero grade air (i.e. oil and particle free gas). The combustibility of the solvents should be considered. Gas cylinders are not recommended due to their limited capacity. Waters recommends using a gas flow of approximately 3 # 4 L/min. A constant gas supply (65 - 90 psi at the regulator) is required to operate the detector.
